Nominal Use Scenario

Friday 1/22/2016

Us (Developers): We are going to be developing, testing, and shipping the application.

Robert: is overseeing the development and owns our creation.

The scientist and the graduate students: are the ones who are going to be viewing the aggregated data and perhaps collecting data themselves. The scientist is also the person who sought to have the application developed.

The users: are going to be the tourists, guides, locals, and scientists that are filling out the form and collecting data using the application.