

Students (designers and programmers), discussed important approaches about the scientist's expectations and requirements to develop the application. Besides, in order to develop the app in a more constructive way, the students asked about the users that will use the app. The objective of the application is also discussed in details. Please refer to the students' note for more detailed information about this meeting.