

Team Platypus

CS-4760 HCI Assignment 1

Michigan Technological University

Spring 17

Descriptions of the environment that users will be in while using the device and performing tasks

Environment:

All public interactivity will be accessed through a website

Website design implemented to accommodate both desktop and larger mobile devices with the expectation of full time web access

At special events selected by the client, users will be able to interact with and provide archival data to the website via ipads, which have been specified as having full time web connection and service

Researchers and historians may request assets from the client which will be provided in a fashion specified by the client not associated with the website

Expected environment of access includes but is not limited to:

Homes

Offices

Other areas with stable internet connection/access