

- Browsing page
  - See a list of all analogies (the browsing/searching view will only show the desired knowledge section of the analogy)
  - Search for specific analogies (search results are shown on the browsing page, just sorted; search by misconception or desired knowledge)
- See more information about specific analogies
  - Show misconception and desired knowledge
  - Show source and target domain
  - Show analysis of common structural elements (if it exists)
  - Allow the user to favorite an analogy
- Create a new analogy
  - Input misconception and desired knowledge
  - Input source domain
  - Input target domain
  - Input analysis of common structural elements (optional)
- Compare two analogies with the same misconception
  - Show misconception and desired knowledge
  - Show target domain and both source domains
  - Show analysis of common structural elements (if it exists)
  - Select one analogy to be taken to its page
- See user information
  - Show user information
  - Show user's favorite analogies
  - Allow the user to logout
  - Allow the user to delete their account
- Allow user to login
  - Input fields for username/password
- Allow user to sign up
  - Input fields for user information
  - Confirm email