

An aerial photograph of a large forest fire. The scene is dominated by thick, billowing white and grey smoke that rises from the fire, partially obscuring the sky. Below the smoke, bright orange and red flames are visible, consuming the forest. The foreground shows a dense stand of evergreen trees, some of which are charred and blackened. The overall atmosphere is one of intense heat and destruction.

Asher App
Version: 2
February 12th, 2024

Login View

Welcome

Login

Continue As Guest

Home View

Cami123

Logout

Begin New Form

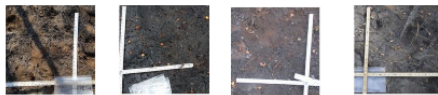

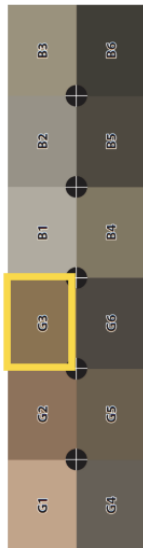

Continue Form

View Database

Form View

Cami123

Logout

Site Name and Plot ID

User/ Team Name

Ash Depth (cm):

Volcanic Ash Present? Yes No

Have the roots been altered from pre-fire condition? Yes No

Ash/ Soil Description:

Please include any additional details here.

Save and Exit

Save and Submit

